George's Cherry Tree

gained him more fame than many a more noble adventure. That is the way with life, sometimes.

Next Thursday is Washington's birthday, and we're naturally going to be closed all day. While you're thinking over the cherry tree episode, just ask yourself if you are saving as much as you should, and answer the question as truthfully as George did his Dad's query as to who carved up the cherry tree!

Apartment Buildings Are Needed in Englewood

No better investment could be made than the construction of apartment buildings in the Englewood section. At all times there is a demand for apartments of all kinds, and in spring and fall there is a scramble for first class places to live. At the present rentals an apartment building is a sure fire good pay investment and will yield from ten to twenty per cent to the owner. No part of the big city has at all times a greater demand for places to live and the population of the town could easily be doubled if we could but provide homes for people who desire to move here. No sooner is the foundation for a new building laid, than a score of tenants are after the apartments, and as a rule they are tenants of the better class who are able and willing to pay good rents. We hope to see some of the great amount of idle capital in this part of the city placed in apartment buildings this year, and the investors will not only make good returns for themselves but benefit our town in the most practical manner.

Schools to Be Used Exclusively for School Purposes

Superintendent Mortenson speaking before a meeting of school principals last Saturday, stated that the city was put to an expense of $70,000 last year by allowing the public schools to be used for other than educational services. He also ordered that hereafter no persons or associations be permitted to use the buildings. There are two ways of looking at this matter, the people have spent millions to build the beautiful school buildings and it does seem that they have the right to use them when not in use for school purposes. The extra cost is due to the heating and janitor service only, and the assembly halls were built for the assembly of the neighborhood as well as for the use of the pupils, so long as they are used along educational lines. In many localities there are no fitting meeting places other than the school halls, and surely the people who built and paid for them have a right to use them.

Better secure your state and city auto licenses now and save a fine.

Chicago has had the heaviest fall of snow in several years this week.

Mr. C. Frank Berg is confined to his bed by an acute attack of quinsy sore throat.

Remember that your income tax schedule must be filed by March 1st.

Next Thursday the schools and many organizations will celebrate Washington's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis A. Hall have taken up residence at the Hotel Reo. Mr. Hall is directing the National Stock company.

Mrs. Luella McKee has gone to Florida for two months, will visit Palm Beach, Miami, Havana and St. Petersburg.

Chas. W. Rossman of 259 64th st. has returned from a successful business trip through Iowa and other western states. He reports business as improving in all lines.

Mrs. H. D. Mann of 450 61st Place and Mrs. Charles Wilson and daughter Marjorie of 452 61st st., leave Tuesday evening for Long Beach, Calif. They will be gone five weeks.

Mrs. Fanny Herrick is ill, threatened with diphtheria. Mrs. Herrick has many friends in Englewood, where her sister, Mrs. Charles W. Rossman, lives at 259 64th st.

Lent began Wednesday and will continue forty days. There will be services each Wednesday, Friday and Sunday evenings at St. Bernard's church, at which a most interesting series of sermons will be delivered.

The Pasadena (Cal.) Star News of February 7th in a special "Dollar Day" edition names a former Englewood merchant, C. F. Manahan, as one of the Dollar Day Committee. Mr. Manahan conducted a successful jewelry business at 63rd and Stewart ave., for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander and family, en route to Palm Beach, Fla., for the rest of the winter, stopped over in Chicago several days this week and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Isensee, 64th and Harvard ave.

Mrs. Harleigh H. Hartman, with her children, Patsy and Bill, of Washington, D. C., returned home this week after a three weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Sullivan, of 250 64th st. They will stop at Tiffin, Ohio, for a visit with their uncles and aunts there.

Beginning What We Do Not Finish

One of the greatest of American faults is our proneness to begin some greater or lesser work, and after a time abandoning it. In other words we do not finish what we have begun in many cases. Just at this time the reforms that we are promised in municipal and state affairs would make us almost a perfect people yet none of us ever hope to see half of them carried through, and inside of six months the press will have abandoned them and they will be forgotten. One reason for this peculiarly American characteristic is that we begin too many things, and as soon as they lose their popularity they are allowed quietly to sink into what one of our presidents called innocuous desuetude. It may be argued that it is better to have tried to reform, than not to have attempted to, but on the other hand we do not get the best efforts of many people who take the same view of the writer that the investigations and prosecutions will not amount to anything and will be dropped without any real good being accomplished. If an organized effort was made to accomplish one certain reform, and leave all others go until this was accomplished, the results would be in evidence and the next reform attempted would have greater support. If we could all unite in the suppression of the drug traffic, or political grafting and dishonesty, and unite all the reform agencies in one of these, beyond doubt we could at least greatly improve conditions if not entirely suppress the evils. We are optimistic enough to believe that there are more good than evil people in this big world of ours, and if their efforts are properly directed the good and the right will prevail.

Motor Vehicle Licenses Must Be Paid Now

Motor vehicle licenses must be paid now. The license commission of the city extended the compulsory payment of the city vehicle license to February 15th and after this date summons will be issued for all cars that do not display their license tags. The state has also asked the assistance of the police department in enforcing the collection of the state license, and between them it promises hard luck for the fellows who make a practice of dodging these payments. It is a well known fact that much fraud has been worked in evading payments heretofore and the city and state is defrauded of thousands of dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Millar Briggs, of 6415 Harvard ave., suffered the loss of their baby son, Elwin Thurston, Saturday, following a week's illness of the flu. Short services were held at Lane's chapel Tuesday afternoon. The infant was cremated at Oakwoods. Mr. and Mrs. Thurston of Rochester, N. Y., parents of Mrs. Briggs, attended the funeral.

Churches Mass to Help Christian Refugees

The churches of America are engaged in a great campaign for funds to meet the tragic emergency in the Near East, involving the lives of hundreds of thousands of Christian refugees driven out of home and country by the fighting on the Greco-Turkish front.

Eight church denominations, representing a total of approximately 11,000,000 communicants, have made special appeals and officially set aside field days on which the churches will present the need of the Near East people and receive offerings for Near East relief. The Federal Council of Churches—representing thirty denominations—has issued two appeals for contributions through the churches.

"Moral Training" will be the subject of a most interesting and valuable service to be held next Sunday evening at the Englewood First Methodist church. Dr. Phillip Yarrow and Mrs. E. Corwin Howell of the Illinois Vigilance association will deliver addresses. The audience will be divided into two sections. There will be a meeting for men only in the Sunday school auditorium and a meeting for women only in the main church auditorium. This is a timely subject just now, considering the vice situation in Chicago.

Child Injured in Fire Dies

Phillip Hoessler, the two-year-old boy burned in the fire at 7012 S. Paulina street, Monday of last week when the younger brother, Paul Edward, met his death, died in St. Bernard's hospital Thursday. The mother, Mrs. Paul Hoessler, who returned to the home after the neighbors had rescued the children from the flames, and was taken to the hospital suffering from shock, was able to return to her home Friday.

The funeral for the boy was held Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the chapel, 1716 W. Sixty-third street. Burial was at St. Mary's. The fire was believed to have been started by paper the older child thrust into the gas heating stove.

Leonard Vandera, 7522 S. Sangamon street, gave a masquerade ball at the I. O. O. F. hall, 103rd and Wallace streets, last Saturday evening. There were about 100 guests.

Held to Grand Jury on Murder Charge

Harold Splitt, 19 years of age, 6504 S. Seeley avenue, and J. W. Meissner 7347 S. Western avenue, who is 27, were held to a grand jury trial last Thursday following the inquest over the body of Joseph Schlessinger, 4213 Gladys avenue, a Yellow Cab driver who was shot to death in an attempted holdup at Fiftieth street and Racine avenue, Wednesday morning.

George Meyer, 26 years old, 6432 Justine street, and James Hunter, 34, Sixty-third and Seeley, alleged accomplices in the holdup, were not held. Splitt told at the inquest how he and Meissner had secured the revolver from James Hunter, owner of the Hillside Inn, hired Schlessinger's cab, and attempted to hold him up at Fifteth street and Racine avenue. He said that Schlessinger seized the gun and tried to jerk it away, discharging it.

A written confession from Meissner telling how the shooting took place is said to be in the hands of state's counsel. The men were captured near the scene of the holdup within an hour after it occurred.

Novels of Historical Nature at Ogden Library

Among recent books added to the Ogden Park library are several historical novels. The most outstanding of these is "1492" by Mary Johnston, author of "To Have and to Hold." 1492 is a sketch of the romantic days of discovery and exploration and of the towering figure of Christopher Columbus. The story follows history closely from the first voyage until the admiral's death. We see Columbus through the eyes of one Jayme de Marchena. Having fallen under the suspicion of the Spanish Inquisition, Jayme sails under the name of Juan Lope, and as some the crew fall ill, his knowledge of medicine makes him "Doctor" and "Senor." Through Juan Lope's eyes, Columbus moves before us as a living imprisoned figure, splendid and generous in triumph, firm and high-hearted in adversity a man of visions, a dreamer of dreams, unsuspicious, childlike, wholly noble.

Cortlandts of Washington Square, by Fairbank, is a story of the Civil war, from the northern standpoint. The author has succeeded in presenting a vivid picture of life in New York just before and during the Civil war. Though the book is lacking in controversy, it is vital with the spirit of the conflict.

In Bacheller's "In the Days of Poor Richard" we have a good American historical novel in which there is a fine patriotic spirit. The love story of Jack Irons and Margaret Hare runs a stormy course, entangled with the fortune of the American colonies. Franklin and Washington appear, but one of the most prominent of the secondary figures is one of the author's favorite "rough diamonds," Solomon Binkus, scout and Indian fighter. The accounts of the Indians are very worth while. The story opens in the wilderness of northern New York, with a party of men and women rescued from the Indians, and it progresses through the Revolutionary war. Benjamin Franklin is one of the great personalities, and the author draws him in his familiar habit as he lives and as he is known in American history.

If you like history, you will enjoy reading these books; if you like novels, you will enoy reading these books, and if you like history in novels, you will like these books. Get them and others at the Ogden Park branch library which is in the Field House in Ogden park. The library is open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. every day except Sunday and legal holidays. It is a branch of the main library and affords you the same privileges.

Mrs. Agnes Rutshaw, 501 W. Sixtieth place, a bookkeeper for the firm of Cochran and McClure, real estate dealers, 40 N. Dearborn streets, was arrested Wednesday of last week charged with embezzlement of $10,000 of the firm's money.

She has been in the employ of Cochran and McClure since last July. Mrs. Rutshaw's bonds of $4,000 were furnished by Arthur J. Rutshaw, 835 W. Fiftieth street, her brother-in-law, who is a member of the state legislature.

Believed to have been attempting suicide while despondent over ill health, Harry Englehardt was found overcome by gas in his room at 6947 Wentworth avenue at midnight Monday night. He was attended by a physician and left at his home. Englehardt is single and 39 years of age.

Speaking at a dinner, Congressman Houston of Tennessee referred to the charming fads and foibles of the fair sex and smilingly recalled the following incident: At a social function one evening one of the male guests began a remark with the words, "I bet she will," when an older gentleman interposed. "Young man," he added with a positive air, "don't ever bet that 'she' will do anything. You can never tell what a woman will do." "You headed me off too soon," smiled the young man. "I was going to say that I would bet that she would do the unexpected." "Don't do it," cautioned the other. "Even that is not a safe bet."

Mr. J. Vincent, carrier at Chicago Lawn Post Office, has been ill.

A fire destroyed the roof of the Frank Goodell residence at 6219 Justine st.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cohen of 814 64th st., are enjoying a motoring trip through Florida.

Mr. Edward Poerer of Chicago Lawn Postal staff has bought a home at 6349 W. 61st Place.

The foundation is completed for the new building at the southeast corner of 63th and Halsted sts.

Special lenten services will be held in all the Catholic churches on Wednesday and Friday evenings.

F. Aller, 5549 Carpenter st., has installed a radio outfit and the family have been enjoying the winter grand opera.

George W. Hard, brother of William, Arthur, Roy, Albert and Mrs. Lee Evans died last week and was buried Saturday.

During the Lenten season there will be services on Friday evenings at 8 o'clock at the Church of the Annunciation, 7814 Loomis ave.

James Byers who died at his home 6644 Aberdeen st. last Saturday was buried Monday from St. Brendan's church. Interment was at Mt. Olivet.

Mrs. Augusta Sammler of 6000 Winchester ave., was buried from Thoburn M. E. church Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Interment was at Mt. Greenwood.

Some class to the clerks at Chicago Lawn Post office—Clerk F. Shipley visited the auto show and now he drives to work in a new Rickenbacker car.

Henry E. Everett died at his home 915 63rd st., Saturday after a brief illness with pneumonia and his funeral occurred Wednesday from Our Lady of Solace church, burial was at St. Joseph's cemetery. Mr. Everett was an old resident of Englewood and had been in the musical instrument manufacturing business for many years. Years ago he rediscovered the manufacture of a special violin varnish said to be the same used centuries ago by Stradavarious and other master violin makers.

Weekly Program

The dancers announced for this week's program on Tuesday night were unfortunately unable to come and will appear later in the year. A very fine program was none-the-less given. Mrs. Mary Coughlin Lawrence gave three excellent groups on the piano including two Chopin Preludes and The Wedding Day by Grieg. Miss Miriam Snyder a most promising young cellist played the Lamento by Faure and a Spanish Serenade by Glazounow. Two Scotch costume dances by Letitia Schraag completed the program. On Tuesday evening, February 21st., the Children's Chorus of Hamilton Park will give the operetta, "The Trolls Cap."

Children's Books at the Ogden Park Library

Do you know who had a magic lamp? Won a pair of silver skates? Went to a ball in a pumpkin coach? Lived in a candy house in the woods? Find out about three people in the books at the Ogden Park Library.

The Ogden Park Library has over 4,000 books just for the children. Books of fairy tales, animal tales, boy scout stories, school stories for boys and girls, sea stories, camping, books of games and parties, books telling how to make thing,—dollhouses, baskets, aeroplanes,—and how to do things,—dress a doll, embroider, crochet, cook, sew, model and shoot,—books of geography, history and industries and everything you need for school. The library invites all of the children to come over and use these books and many many more which may be read here, or may be taken home on a library card. If you haven't a card, ask for one.

The Story Hour at the Ogden Park Library, is on Tuesday and Friday at 4 o'clock. In connection with the Story Hour, is an Attendance Contest between the schools. Up to date, St. Brendan's has the most stars for having the largest attendance. Other schools in competition, are Sacred Heart, Bass, and Wentworth, St. Theodore's and Raster, each has two stars. Come out and show what your school can do.

Some of the new books for children are in the Ogden Park Library now: Adam, Wisp—A Girl of Dublin; Bonsels, Adventures of Maya, the Bee; Bowen, Solario, the Tailor; Colum, Children Who Followed the Piper; Dix, Turned-about Girls; Eaton, Boy Scouts at Crater Lake; Hough, Young Alaskans on the Missouri; London, Dutch courage and other stories; Perkins, Swiss Twins; Baker, Shasta of the Wolves; Carleton, Dorothy, the Motor Girl; Verrill, Boy Adventures in the Forbidden Land; Wallace, Story of Grenfell of the Labrador; Watson, With LaSalle, the Explorer.

These are only a few of the new books Ogden Park Library has for the use of the children.

Dodge Entertains at His Studio

One of the prettiest receptions and dances of the season was given Wednesday evening, February 7, at the Dodge Studio, 6536 S. Halsted St., when J. Dodge, his assistant Mrs. Carolyn Brebach and Miss Hazel Maurer of the Herring Studio, 7818 S. Halsted street, received and entertained photographers, their wives and friends.

Hazel Mae Maurer

The studio was beautiful with decorations of red hearts, palms, ferns, baskets of cut flowers and subdued lights. During the evening the guests were entertained by Miss Margery McCartney, oriental dancer, little Lucille Crowhurst, toe dancer, and Master Howard Schultz with fancy clogging. Short addresses were made by Charles Mayo, president of the Chicago Associated Portrait Photographers, and attorney H. W. Starr.

Carolyn Brebach

Mrs. Brebach, to receive the guests, was attired in a jade sequined robe and Miss Maurer wore flame velvet.

About 150 women and men enjoyed the studio dance

Lennon orchestra furnished the music, and frappe was served during the evening.

Successful Organ Recital

An organ recital by Prof. Carl Rupprecht renowned organist at Hope Evangelical Lutheran church, 64th st. and Washtenaw ave., was an unusual musical event. At this church Professor Rupprecht lived up to his repetition as an organist of unusual ability and Master of the Keys. The church was filled to the utmost capacity, and the professor held the audience spellbound throughout the recital.

The vocal selections which were intermingled, Fred H. Soderberg, W. W. Mason, Mrs. Wm. Roemisch and Mrs. Arthur Utesch were delivered in splendid manner. The numerous congratulations showered upon Prof. Rupprecht and the vocalists proved the sentiment and appreciation of the audience.

Another Millinery Store Added to Englewood

Rudolph Hartman, for eight years manager of one of the leading millinery shops on Halsted street, is now opening his own store at 6133 S. Halsted street, corner of Sixty-first place. He will have as his assistant Mrs. Agnes Burkard who also assisted him in his former position.

Mr. Hartman, who declares he "just stumbled into" the millinery business for himself, has had much experience as a buyer and designer of millinery. He makes a specialty of a department for children and misses and expects to give the little tots all the up-to-date styles, comfort, and attention while being fitted.

The store will be known as Hartman's exclusive Millinery. The entire shop is finished in French grey and gold with lights in cases, grey chairs to match the framework of the mirrors. He will specialize in hats from $5 to $15 on a strictly one price basis, every hat marked in plain figures.

Flowers will be presented the ladies on the opening day.

Charles W. Reinke of 7919 Justine st., was seriously injured Tuesday night when the target of two bandits evidently planning to loot the "Northwest Merchandise" freight, of which he was acting as guard. Mr. Reinke shot and killed one bandit. The other escaped. It was then Reinke discovered he was wounded in the left arm and abdomen. He crawled down the embankment at 31st and Ashland; boarded a Western ave. street car to 35th st., where he hailed a police ambulance. He was rushed to St. Anthony's hospital.

Give Us a Place to Play

John L. Shorey

"Get out!" yells the cop, "'r I'll soon put a stop
To y'r nerve-rackin' din by runnin' you in.
You won't play in the street, when I'm on this beat,
So chase yourself hence. Get away from that fence."
An' the cop he's the law an' we've got to obey,
But he don't tell us what 'r where we can play.

"Get out!" yells the man when we kick his ash can,
Then he calls us vile toughs, an' villains, an' roughs,
An' names if I said would knock mother down dead.
We run with all our might, to get out of his sight.
An' bump into people who kick us away,
An' grow', but don't mention a place we can play.

"Get out of the way!" yells a man with a dray,
As he nearly runs down my chum, Billy Brown;
He raises his whip, and then all of us skip.
But we only change streets, for where else can we go
To escape cops and drivers, does anyone know?

If you were a lad, didn't mean to be bad,
Had no place to meet, except in the street,
No place to play ball, 'r "tagger" at all,
No place just to yell, when y'u're feelin' real well,
Now, honest an' true, what on earth would you do?

Why, you'd swear an' make bets, an' smoke cigarettes;
You'd gamble an' fight, an' throw stones just for spite.
You'd try to live down to the names you were named;
An' you'd lie, with the gang, without feelin' ashamed.

Big brothers of ours, we want to do right,
But try as we will, it's a hard, uphill fight,
We'd rather play ball in a place where we dare
Than skulk near a corner, an' gamble an' swear.

We'd rather climb ladders, an' act on a bar,
Than dodge a policeman 'r hang on a car.
It's up to you, borthers. Come please don't delay,
But establish a place where us fellows can play.

Legion Committee on Policy Holds Meeting

A meeting of the committee of policy of Englewood post No. 61, American Legion, was called by Commander Dr. Daniel Gordon at the post headquarters, 6345 S. Halsted street, Friday, February 9.

A careful check on the local situation was made and the service, employment, and visiting committee will closely co-operate. For the information of ex-service men, these committees can be reached through Commander Dr. Gordon, post headquarters, 6345 S. Halsted street, Wentworth 6797, residence Went. 6750; Employment Officer J. Crotzer, Wentworth 6797; Service Officer Elmer N. Holmgren, Central 6480; Chaplain (visiting) Walter E. Troesen, Englewood 8191.

Members of the committee on policy are Dr. Daniel Gordon, Judge Wm. E. Helander, Harry L. Brin, C. N. Bergstrom, Chas. F. Berg, Elmer N. Holmgren, Carl L. Gibson, Walter E. Troesch, and Frank Conway.

It is believed by the committee of policy that the check of the local situation will facilitate the service work and put them in the immediate touch with the ex-service men in need of any kind of assistance in the shortest possible time. Bonus blanks are still to be obtained at the post headquarters. A notary public is "on the job" from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

The next meeting of Englewood post will be held at its regular meeting place, 6236 Princeton ave., Friday, February 16, at 8 o'clock.

Ogden Park Activities

The first lesson in paper flower making was given last Sunday afternoon. A large group of those interested responded. These lessons will continue every week until the second week of April and are open to all women and older girls. The only materials needed are a pair of scissors.

Girls' Volley Ball League

A postponed game with Lyman Trumbull Park was played by the "B" team last Friday evening resulting in a victory for the Ogden Team. The Limited team won its game from Grand Crossing. The Unlimited from Palmer. The evening "A" Team was defeated by Palmer Park.

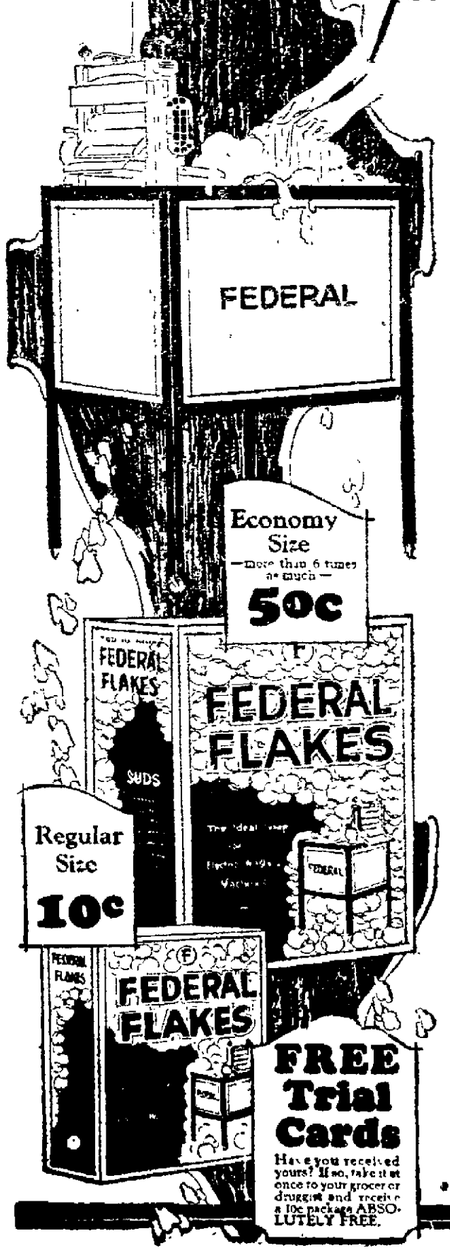
FEDERAL FLAKES
For every cleansing purpose



Mountains of Rich Cleansing Soap Suds!

JUST a few Federal Flakes make heaps and heaps of fluffy, snowy, clean-smelling suds! Working through and through the clothes in your washer, they loosen every bit of soil, banish all the dirt stain. Federal Flakes are made with the same care in choosing materials and supervising workmanship that the manufacturers give "Chicago's Favorite Washer". They have many uses outside a washer, too.

Use Them—
For soaking out the soil if you have no washer.
For wash-bowl laundering silk hosiery and laces.
For dishwashing and cleaning purposes.

Think how handy to use one soap for everything—and a convenient flake soap! Federal Flakes injure neither fabric nor your hands. And how economical—only one soap to buy! Ask for the Economy Package—65c worth of soap flakes for 50c.

Go to your grocer or druggist for Federal Flakes. Try a 10c package—use it as many ways as possible—see ALL the work that Federal Flakes will do.

NEWS

Mrs. Harry Rickert of 9922 Vincennes ave., has been ill the past week.

Mr. Thomas Malcolm, 8406 Morgan st., has recovered from the grippe.

Little Mary Eileen Mulligan of 1211 W. 104th st. has recovered from a week's illness.

Betty and Irma Palmer of 1753 W. 96th st., had a valentine party last Monday afternoon.

Students of the Morgan Park Military Academy, 111th and Hoyne ave., visited the Tribune plant on February 7th.

A colonial party will be given by the Woman's Society of Bethany Union church on February 21st in the church parlors.

Mr. B. J. Clements of 9601 Vanderpoel ave., has been elected democratic precinct captain of the 36th Precinct, 19th ward.

Miss Mary Caberey of 9745 Prospect ave., who has been seriously ill, has almost recovered and will be able to be around again ere long.

If your postman fails to call next Thursday morning, just smile and don't grumble. The holiday is a welcomed rest by the post office boys.

Last Saturday Mr. James Kelly, 1032 W. 103rd place, attended the 93rd birthday anniversary of his children's great grandmother who lives in Harvey, Ill.

Mr. John Willig of Parington, Ill., for many years highway commissioner of the Town of Calumet, is very ill. He is 80 years old. His son, Mr. Charles Willig lives at 1528 W. 99th st.

The January Police Bulletin says: "Acting Sergt. Andrew McNamara, 8135 Elizabeth st., who has charge of the Kensington flivver squad, has received honorable mention for the efficiency record in the number of arrests and convictions which took place during the month of January."

Two men, giving their names as Alfred Rogers and John Helton, were waiting in an automobile at 115th and Vincennes ave., on February 7th. A traveling officer watched them and finally called the Kensington Flivver Squad. Confronting the men they found that they had some loaded guns. They were arrested and fined $100.00.

Michael Shannon, 118th and Vincennes ave., a watchman employed to guard Morgan Park stores, shot Chris Samucks of 11114 Hale ave., a colored janitor employed by the merchants to clean up after the stores were closed. The watchman when taken by the Kensington Flivver Squad said he thought Samucks was a burglar. An investigation is being made before the case is finished.

Last Friday evening the Kensington Flivver Squad were caller to 107th and Vincennes ave., to stop the proprietor from selling liquor. Four men were arrested. The back door furnished an entrance to thirsty ones. This is the saloon which Alderman Wilson has ordered the police to close, because of the illegal way in which soft (?) drinks were sold. He immediately communicated with the Chief of Police and an officer is now detailed at his request for 24 hours a day.

ADDITIONAL ENGLEWOOD NEWS

Mrs. Sarah Fryatte of the Rolfe Apartments has returned after a three months visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. A. Wilcox of Rockford, Illinois.

Mr. Irvin I. Himmel of I. Himmel and Sons, furriers, returned last Monday from a 10 days shopping tour in northern Michigan, northern Wisconsin and in New York City.

The Republican Women's club of the 17th ward will give a card and bunco party on Monday, February 19th, at 2 p. m. at the South end headquarters, 6857 Normal boulevard. Tickets, 25 cents. Come and bring your friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. B. Downing, formerly Miss Edna Berg of 6418 Yale ave. have returned from their wedding trip spent in the east. They will be "at home" after March 1st in the Kenwood Apartments at 63rd st., and Kenwood ave.

Thousands of his Englewood friends will regret to see the retirement of Fire Marshall Joseph L. Kenyon who has made such a wonderfully efficient record here in the past thirty years. We understand Joe will hand over the baton on March 1st.

The Queen Esther Girls of the Englewood First M. E. church have secured Tom Corwine, the well known imitator, for the evening of March 9th. This is a rare treat and the Queen Esther Girls invite all Englewood to attend this entertainment to be given at the church, 64th st. and Stewart ave.

On Saturday February 3, a luncheon and business meeting of the Central Association was held at the Canadian Club, 26 N. Dearborn st. Mrs. Carrie Vorwerk, president and Mrs. Helen Haycock, treasurer, attended the meeting as representatives of the Auxiliary Unit of Englewood Post No. 61, American Legion. A card and bunco party will be given by the members of the Auxiliary Unit of Englewood Post No. 61, American Legion, on Friday March 2, at G. A. R. hall, 6236 Princeton ave., 8:30 o'clock.

Overseas Veteran News

Next meeting of Greater Chicago Post No. 866, V. F. W., will be held next Tuesday evening, Feb. 20th, at G. A. R. hall. One of the largest classes is expected to be obligated according to our by-laws, constitution and the V. F. W. ritual in which the post officers are thoroughly skilled. One of the finest pieces of work ever written will prevail.

We announce again that all ex-service men who seek employment at their trade, skill or otherwise, will be taken care of by applying at our meeting or mail to the G. A. R. hall.

At the last affair given by the post and auxiliary, one of the largest card and bunco parties was held at G. A. R. hall, Tuesday, Feb. 6. At least 40 valuable prizes were won by our good friends of the post and general public. The committee extends very grateful thanks to the business men of Englewood who contributed so liberally.

Bonus blanks still to be had at Musser-Lorenz Store, 6250 Halsted st. and the V. F. W. will take care of any claim for man or woman.

The post and auxiliary will celebrate Washington's birthday at Hamilton Park field house with a splendid program. A dance will be given in conjunction. The general public are invited. Music by an Englewood orchestra.

In the near future the post will hold a military smoker and vaudeville. "Cootie milk" and refreshments will be served from the dugout.

A Farewell to the Old Friend

Over thirty years ago the writer of this met Joe Kenyon and his brother Dave when they were pipemen in the Chicago fire department. Dave was the man who invented the brass flagpole, now universally in use, and later was the captain of the first negro company in the United States at Taylor st. After the world's fair Joe Kenyon came to Englewood as a successor of Chief Edward Murphy and has been in command of the vast southwest section since that time, at one time including over forty-five miles of territory. There had been strenuous days in those times and we have known when Joe slept on the hard cement floor of his headquarters, awaiting the first call. At no time has Joe been deficient in his duty; true, a few grey hairs have been added under his helmet, but his youthful vigor and his wonderful experience has but added to his efficiency as a fire fighter.

The Englewood Times has known Joe since his boyhood and cannot but in duty to itself and to its wide circulation, protest against his retirement at this time. No one at this time could better fill Fire Marshall Joe Kenyon's position than he is filling it now. Therefore we unite with the many civic organizations in asking that he be retained as the fire marshall of the Englewood district.

Annual Greater Englewood Elder Boys' Conference

The date of the Fourth Annual Greater Englewood Elder Boy's Conference is rapidly approaching and elaborate preparations are under way in an endeavor to make this the best conference ever. The committees have been busy for several months and, having set the dates for Saturday March 3, and Sunday March 4, have engaged some wonderful speakers, men who have endeared themselves to the hearts of boys the world over by their athletic prowess and great interest towards subjects under discussion at all times by every group of lively fellows; men to whom a real boy can go and have an honest-to-goodness, heart-to-heart talk on any subject. Can you imagine anything more interesting than a talk by the only man who ever beaten Jim Thorpe, the 220 yd. low hurdles Olympic champion? That will be your privilege if you are present at the conference for Dr. W. B. Hindman is this man and he is one of the many on the program. Among the others will be "Fritz" Crisler, All-American football choice and present assistant coach at the University of Chicago, and Dr. Carl D. Case of Oak Park, a very interesting speaker of national reputation.

The conference this year will be held at the Normal Park M. E. church, 71st. and Union ave. The Saturday session will be in the form of a banquet at 6:15 p. m., the Sunday sessions will be at 10:30 a. m. and at 3:00 p. m.

As this is the fourth consecutive year that the conference has been held it is not necessary to say what is the purpose, because it is already known throughout the city. The theme this year is, "My responsibility to myself, to others, to God."

A fine musical leader has been secured, Mr. E. T. Clissold, and the musical program will be furnished by an orchestra and the well-known Drexel Male Quartet.

English Lords Eat Frugal Lunches

Luncheons and dinners at the house of lords are surprisingly frugal. The setting where the legislative nobility of England congregate and the ceremony attending so many of their functions stimulate the imagination of visitors, who expect to find the members of the house of lords lunching lavishly at mid-day and sitting down to elaborate and formal dinners at night.

The lord chancellor recently gave a political dinner, a cheap affair, for when the total of the check was divided by the number of guests it worked out at the rate of 6 shillings each.

Boiled beef, cold ham, apple tart and grilled chops are most frequently the orders from the peers' dining room to the kitchen. An order often sent down the lift calls for a "Lord Finlay with cream," denoting that the diner would like a portion of apple tart, a favorite dish with Lord Finlay. Many other peers have their special likes. Lord Haldane, for instance, takes little but soda waters; Lord Onslow, cake, bread and butter for tea, at 1 shilling a

You say to the waiter when first you sit down: "Now, let's have this understood right here and now—I don't want any coffee." You have some difficulty at first in convincing him that you are in earnest and later in convincing him that you are sane. But at last he grins amiably and says: "Yes sir, surely sir," and trots off to the kitchen.

He returns with a cup of coffee, which he genially presents to you. You less genially present it back, explaining again that you do not want coffee. You explain this very carefully, and he seems to comprehend at last.

All goes well for a while then. You get your ice water, your rolls, your soup, meat, potatoes and vegetables; you get your dessert. You turn to your waiter for the bill.

He is standing there, a seraphic grin wreathing his honest but simple face, and a cup of steaming coffee in his triumphantly outstretched hand.

At the Harvard Theatre

Friday, February 16.—William Farnum, assisted by Wanda Hawley, Tom Santschi and Claire Adams in a thrilling photoplay in "Brass Commandments" from the story by C. A. Seltzer. Also Prizma natural color pictures, Topics of the Day and a two-reel comedy.

Saturday, February 17—Continuous 2 to 11:30 p. m. The diminutive little star, Viola Dana, with Cullen Landis in a delightful picture which the entire family will enjoy. "Love In the Dark," an exciting comedy drama with a laugh for every thrill. Tense drama, hilarious comedy and a charming romance in a rapidly moving story. We know that you know exactly the kind of photoplay that wins your approbation. We know, too, that Viola Dana in her latest Metro picture, "Love In the Dark," fills every requirement which even the most critical fans can place on a motion picture. It has an appealing story about a delightful orphan. Also, Pathe News, Mutt & Jeff and a two-part comedy.

Sunday, February 18—Continuous 2 to 11:30 p. m. The ever popular actor, Jack Holt, with Eva Novak in Peter B. Kyne's, "Making a Man." The fighting story of a man who discovered, through misfortune, that he had a heart. A millionaire suddenly stranded in New York without a cent or a friend—that's Jack Holt in this picture. Slipping into the depths, fighting his way up, and winning—it's the most dramatic role of his career. Also, International News, a two-part comedy and matinee only, Pearl White in "Plunder."

Tuesday and Wednesday, February 20-21—Thomas Meighan and Lila Lee in George Ade's "Back Home and Broke." It is without a doubt the best work of both Mr. Ade and Tom Meighan. Do not miss this one is our advice.

This Week at the Empress

"The Radio Girls" are at the Empress theater this week. It is one of Sim Williams' production, and what we might state a success inasmuch as the comedy is first class; the principals without exception are good performers, and the girls do their "stuff" with a great deal of enthusiasm. It's a real burlesque which carries a good hearty laugh throughout the entire show. According to our conception of shows in general and in particular we would pronounce the Radio girls a little above the average.

Englewood Artist Honored

Among the most honored of the local artists who have their pictures hung at the art institute's exhibition of Chicago artists is our young friend, A. J. Motley, Jr., of 350 60th st. In the last exhibition he gained special mention by portraits of his father and mother and this year he presents one of his grandmother which the committee of awards found so deserving as to reproduce in the catalogue. Another strikingly meritorious picture of Mr. Motley's is "The Octoroon," which is receiving high commendation. Archibald is an Englewood boy, graduate of the Englewood High, and an artist of real ability whom it is a pleasure to meet personally as well as professionally.

10 Arrested in Burglary

With the arrest of the tenth person implicated Sunday, Englewood police have rounded up a gang which they believe to be responsible for dozens of Southside store burglaries during the past year, one of the biggest "cleanups" to be made by local detectives for some time. It was handled by Sergeants Erlanson, Fuller, Fogarty, Cooper, Storms, Burke, and McDonald.

Mrs. Nellie Hodeck, a property owner at 6005 Spaulding avenue, and her son, James, were arrested last Thursday in the act of delivering a dozen pairs of stolen shoes. Through information received from her and "leads" of which police were in possession previously, eight other arrests were made during the next three days.

Mrs. Hodeck has admitted receiving stolen property during the past six months, according to police and is believed to have been connected with the ring for at least a year. Fur coats, suits of clothing and other wearing apparel, cigars and cigarettes valued at about $5,000 are involved in the specific charges made against the ten.

Henry Schwertfeger, 7547 Green street, a chauffeur 19 years of age, is charged with six cases of burglary and William Schwertfeger, 17, of the same address, has four charges of burglary against him. Thomas Moody, 8129 Vincennes avenue, 19 years of age, was booked on six burglary charges.

Nick Andreakos, 7351 Halsted street; Henry Ringold, 5800 State street; Charles Alhreph, 6548 Halsted street, 23 years old; Edward Throw, 6509 State street, 27, and Alfred Hedburg, 6825 Honore street, 22, are the other members of the ring, all charged with burglary, receiving stolen property, or carrying concealed weapons.

Saturday a writ of habeas corpus was presented before Judge McKinley for Mrs. Hodeck, and her son. He set the woman's bond at $10,000 and her son's at $5,000. Unable to furnish the amount they were returned to jail.

When the case was called in the boys' court Tuesday morning a continuance was asked by police and the state in order to give time for ferreting out complete evidence.

Friday evening, following Throw's arrest, his wife, Lillian, came to the Englewood station with a plea for aid to her four small children, the eldest of whom is five years of age. She said they were without coal and food and the rent was due. Policemen at the station collected $15 for her relief until she could secure assistance from the proper authorities.

Mike and Murphy had hired a boat for the day. All went well till the afternoon when, unfortunately, the boat sprang a leak and the water rushed in at a terrible rate. Murphy began bailing as hard as he could; but, looking up a moment or so later, he saw Mike apparently busy over something else at the other end of the boat. "Hi, man," he cried angrily, "what are ye doin'?" "Shure," said Mike, "I'm boring another hole, bedad, to let the water out!"

Hiram Kelly Branch Library New Books

"Keeping up" with new fiction is quite a task and we think the library can be quite a help in keeping the reading public informed of new authors of importance, recognized authors contributions of importance and very specially—outstanding books of the time.

We are particularly pleased to tell the public about Ernest Poole's last book, "Millions" being a study in character delineation. He takes his subjects and puts them to the test of the possibility of monetary acquisition at the death-bed of a relative thereby showing up with a revealing pen the pettiness and selfishness of most humans. The story is not all mean and ugly however but is relieved by the character of Gordon's sister who finds herself through this ordeal. All who have read Poole's "Harbor" or "The Family" can well imagine how expertly he can handle this form of study.

Wm. McFee in "Command" gives us another character study in his master manner. Reginald Spokesly "a gentleman of indifferent calibre" after much shiftlessness has adventures and romance of such nature thrust upon him that he emerges a disillusioned but more worth-while man "with some inches of spiritual growth to the good." McFee has won a well-deserved niche in the wall of time by his very excellent studies of man and the sea. His "Casuals of the Sea" has stood the test of several years now and will probably stand many more.

Another known author is D. H. Lawrence, recognized for his "The White Peacock" and others as a writer with psychoanalytical leanings, and one of the foremost young writers of England. His new book is a collection of ten short stories characterizing the futility of life as many see it.

A new author we are glad to mention is John Seymour Eyton whose "Dancing Fakir" gives us a delightful panorama of Indian episodes reminiscent of Kipling. The Boston Transcript says, "Mr. Eyton has mastered the art in short story telling of knowing exactly the moment to draw the curtain, wasting no time, revealing a singular economy of explanations. He can tell terrible things in a single crisp sentence. In every respect these stories may be classed as literature and their author essentially a gifted artist."

We have also received some new mystery stories. Conan Doyle's "Mystery of Cloomer," Harvey's "Mystery of the Hidden Room", Lee's "The Mysterious Office", and Regis' "No. 13 Toroni" being among them.

Among the western stories received are, Hall's "Across the Mesa" and Raine's "The Fighting Edge."

The Library is open every week day except legal holidays, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. It will be open from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. on Washington's birthday.

Mass Meeting

A mass meeting of the voters of the 17th ward will be held at the I. O. O. F. Odd Fellows hall, 6318 Yale ave. on Tuesday evening, to which all residents of the ward are respectfully invited.

The speakers will be Postmaster Arthur C. Leuder, former Governor; Charles S. Deneen; Senator Frank P. Sadler; Henry F. Eidmann, Representative David S. Swanson; Senator W. H. Cruden, Robert E. Barbee and others.

Musical features will be added and other attractions. Everyone invited.

The Passing of A. D. Morrison

Armer David Morrison was born in Rockville, Ohio, April 6, 1844. He was married to Irene Doty of Cincinnati, Ohio on Oct. 1, 1867.

He came to Englewood in 1880, has resided here almost continuously for forty-three years, and for thirty years of that period at 7142 Harvard ave. His death occurred January 30, 1923.

He was a member of the Insurance firm of Morrison and Miller, and president of the Board of Trustees of the First Methodist church of Englewood where he had filled other position of responsibility. He was prominent in the affairs of Methodism in the Rock River Conference, and a liberal supporter of all church enterprises. He was a member of the Old Settlers organization, and during his long residence he made a large number of friends who will greatly miss him, and his public spirited support of all community enterprises. He was a man of sterling character. and his strong personality won large success for him in his line of business.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Irene D. Morrison, by a sister, Mrs. M. L. Wilcox of Oklahoma City, and a brother Prof. Charles M. Morrison, Director of Oberlin Conservatory of Music.

Funeral Services were held Thursday February 1, 1923, at the First M. E. church of Englewood, the interment being at Oakwoods Cemetery.

In Memoriam P. J. Mahoney

"Green be the turf above thee
Friend of our better days
None knew thee but to love thee
None named thee but to praise."

After an illness of but two days Patrick J. Mahoney of 7249 Princeton ave., died at his residence Sunday January 28th, aged 50 years.

Mr. Mahoney will be remembered as the superintendent of carriers and later station superintendent of the Ogden Park, Englewood Postal stations and at the last of the Pilsen station on the west side. Mr. Mahoney was an expert in postal affairs having entered the service thirty-five years ago, and advanced step by step to a superintendency entirely on his merits. He was a trustee of St. Carthage church, 7320 Yale ave. and was buried from there. He leaves besides a loving wife Catherine, four children, Zita, Kathryn, Mary Jane and Donald, the latter of which was brought from the hospital where he was undergoing an operation to see his father the evening before his death. Only ten days before his death Mr. Mahoney had buried his dear old mother, and it is thought her death and Donald's serious illness contributed in a measure to his untimely decease. Solemn requiem Mass was celebrated at St. Carthage church and the remains were buried at Mount Olivet.

Englewood Evening School

Lincoln and Washington were honored in a combination patriotic address given by the Hon. Frank P. Sadler at an assembly of the Englewood Evening school, held in the school auditorium February 15. In addition to the address there were patriotic songs by the school musical clubs. Two weeks from Thursday will be the Live Exhibition of the school; this consists of samples of every sort of class work which can be shown in any manner on the stage. It is open to the public and all friends of the school are invited. Families of students are especially urged to be present on that evening.

New Classes Formed

Due to the increased enrollment of the new semester, four new standard classes have been formed. These are as follows: Botany, Beginning Spanish, European History, and Beginning Algebra. Plans are being made to form other classes for the eighth grade graduates who finish their grade work in March. This was done last year with a good deal of success. These new classes will meet three times per week and will thus be able to earn a semester's credit by the close of school in June. The Evening School Booster association, which has charge of all promotional work of the school and which just finished a very successful "Howdy Week," is offering a prize for an evening school song. Many contestants have already entered songs for the contest.

W. G. Wehrwein for Alderman in 18th Ward

Stands for Efficiency, Home Rule And Public Ownership of Transportation

The man who takes a just pride in his citizenship in this marvelous city of Chicago is the man who will best safeguard its future. Is it not a great privilege to be a unit in the citizenship of the greatest industrial city in the world?

Think of the great possibilities to be achieved for the present and future generations.

To the people of the 18th ward I am not unknown as I make my first bid for public honor, as alderman. For twenty-five years I have lived here as neighbor and friend. My small share in upholding the interests of this section were in membership in the "Zoning, Chicago Plan" and "Transportation" conferences.

It has been my privilege to be at the head of local improvement organizations for seventeen years.

I seek your votes on a platform of "Efficiency in Government," "Home Rule for Chicago", "Public Ownership of Transportation Systems, "Uniform Taxation" and "In serving the voters of my own ward."

To be right is to me far more important than to be your Alderman. I will serve you, if elected, to the best of my ability.

(Signed) W. G. WEHRWEIN,

1275 W. Seventy-second street,
Chicago, Ill.

I am seeking the votes of the citizens of the 18th ward in my race as a non-partisan candidate for alderman, and I deem it but right that I should tell those who do not know me personally that—I was born in Wisconsin, taught in the public schools there; educated at Valparaiso, Ind. and have been a resident and in business in the ward for twenty-five years. I have served this community on all Zoning, Chicago Plan and Transportation conferences. For seventeen years it has been my privilege to serve at the head of local improvement associations. I am interested only in what is right as regards the future of this ward and the future of Chicago. If elected I pledge my constant effort to secure home rule for a Greater Chicago, to bring about uniform taxation, public ownership of the transportation systems and to insure honesty and efficiency in government.

February 5, 1923.

To the Editor of the Economist:

I live and vote fourteen miles from where my friend, W. G. Wehrwein, is a candidate for alderman, yet knowing him so well I feel that I am doing the 18th ward a service in calling the attention of those who do not know him to his standing as a man. He has lived twenty-five years in the old 32nd ward. He taught school for eight years. He first made his living as a carpenter and then he became a builder and contractor and rose to a position of influence. For his unselfish work in his district there surely should come the reward of service in behalf of others. I cannot vote for him; I wish I could. If elected the 18th ward will honor a good citizen and be honored by its representation in the council of the greatest industrial city in the world.

(Signed) A. T. MACDONALD,

Chicago, Illinois.

Some Aldermanic Candidates Farcical

While believing thoroughly in the democracy of our elections and non-partisanship, especially in city and municipal affairs, it looks as if our aldermanic contest has developed into a farcical affair in which a few really deserving men are mentioned and the others look as if the garbage can was ransacked to find candidates. Of course anyone can be a candidate that can file a petition with a few hundred names and almost anyone outside of jail can secure these. The public seems to think aldermanic elections are a joke from some of the candidates named, and a prize local baseball player or a good pool player with no other recommendations are placed in the race by enthusiastic friends.

The aldermanic election this year should be no farce; we need the best men in the new city council that can be procured; we make no political recommendations—we have none—but we DO urge that capable, honest and competent men be selected and that their ability as baseball or bowling men be ignored. We need business men of experience: men with a conscience as well as ability and not the puppets of any political faction or party.

It behooves every voter to study well their tickets and vote as their conscience dictates, but all must realize that every vote will count and none can afford to throw away their votes as a compliment or a joke. Wake up, voters, and elect a really clean and honest council.

Yeomen Initiate Class of 50

Liberty Homestead No. 5968, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, initiated a big class Friday evening, February 9th, at their hall, 647 E. 61st st., near Langley ave. The class was in honor of H. W. Meyers, state manager, who was present, accompanied by Mr. Oxman, president of the Chamber of Commerce at Dixon, Ill., the proposed site of the new Yeoman children's school home. The degree work was conferred by Liberty's new degree team, which was organized by Clara Wheeler. The members of the team are as follows: Fred F. Powell is captain, and assumes the role of Cedric the Saxon. Otto Christensen, Ivanhoe; Hazel Starr, Lady Rowena; May Van Dam, Lady Rebecca; Overseer, Gussie Krick; Black Knight, John Stage; Gurth, H. S. McCawley; Courier, Laura Powell; Isaac, Wm. Ascher; Wamba, Guy Barker; Chaplain, Elizabeth Taylor; Watchman, Laura Christensen; Sentinel, Bertha Hornberg; Correspondent, Carrie Kennedy; Leader, Hazel Churchill; Leader, Ada Kroll; Pianist, Marjorie Mullen. The team did excellent work, and won the praise of all. A banquet was served to 150. Deputy Gussie A. Krick was responsible for the most of the candidates, with the able assistance of the Boosters of Liberty. Deputy Krick wrote 25 new members in January, and won the prize of leading lady producer in the state, which was presented by the state manager, being an expensive fountain pen, with name engraved. The Yeomen have five homesteads on the South Side, with Geo. D. Gordon, district manager, 250 W. 61st pl. A ten million dollar children's school home will be located in May somewhere in the United States, and Dixon, Ill., is regarded ahead in the race of the many other localities, to secure the home. The society is twenty-six years old this month, and has 300,000 members, giving whole family protection, on legal reserve basis.

"The Breath of Scandal"

"There Are Sermons in Books" is the title of a series of sermons which Rev. C. T. Holman will begin at the Normal Park Baptist church next Sunday evening, using Edwin Balmer's recent novel, "The Breath of Scandal," as the basis of his first address. This book is especially well suited to the purpose because of its local color as well as its moral and social message. The plot is laid in Chicago and Evanston and moves about a social situation which is all too common in all large cities. In this novel Mr. Balmer centers our attention on a new phase of the sort of situation which is just around the corner from all of us. We see parents drifting apart. We call it their tragedy. But it is a matter which affects their children, if possible, even more vitally than themselves. Marjorie Hale's problem, when the breath of scandal touched her father, is that of many another innocent young girl. What was she to say about it? Was her father unqualifiedly wicked? Or were current social customs also in part to blame? An earnest invitation is extended to all interested in the discussion of this vital ethical and social problem. The church is located at the corner of 70th st. and Stewart ave., and the service begins at 7:30.

The Boy Scout troop, No. 640, connected with the church, will hold their annual church parade to the morning service, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Fred B. Frizell, and hear a sermon by the pastor on "Scouting and Christian Citizenship."

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Kelly, widow of the late Thomas Kelly, occurs this morning from the residence of her daughter, 7945 May st. Mass at St. Sabina's church at nine o'clock. The remains will be interred at Mt. Oliver.

Sherwood Park Playground

About three weeks ago there was posted a notice in Sherwood Park, 57th and Princeton ave., that the park would be closed on Feb. 1st. Citizens in the neighborhood immediately got busy and on Jan. 31st there was a mass meeting in Sherwood School hall to protest against the closing of the playground.

Fully four hundred people were present at the meeting. Music was furnished by the eighth grade pupils of the Sherwood school. E. W. Adkinson presided. The following were the speakers for the occasion: E. W. Adkinson, James A. Kearns, John H. Lyle, Frank M. Hallenbeck, Robert W. McKinlay, Charles S. Peterson, John J. Sullivan, H. E. Sansteadt, Mary A. Emerick, Helen M. Rathbun, Elizabeth McInerny, Christine Bednar, Harold V. Osborne. A telegram from Avery Brundage was read. Mr. Brundage, Mr. McKinlay and Mr. Sullivan are graduates of Sherwood school and had their first athletic training in Sherwood Park.

All the speakers agreed that it would be a calamity to allow the park to be closed. It is virtually the only playground in the district bounded by Garfield blvd., State st., 63rd st. and Halsted. It is used daily by hundreds of pupils from the Sherwood public school and St. Martin's and St. Anne's parochial schools and by the young people of the neighborhood in the evenings. If the park is closed these children will be forced to do their playing in the streets and back alleys. Accidents are sure to follow, with their attendant fatalities.

Sherwood Park has a frontage of 245 feet on 57th st. and a depth of 150 feet between Princeton and Shields aves. About ten years ago, through the influence of James A. Kearns, who was then alderman, the city secured the use of it from Mr. Henry Gersley. No rental was paid but the city agreed to pay the taxes and special assessments with the understanding that at its first opportunity it would buy the property. The city has spent some ten to twelve thousand dollars on the place for equipment, iron fence, arc lights, drainage, etc. The lease has now expired. The former owner is dead. His widow is unwilling to extend the lease on the property. She has offered the park and a tract of land as large again as the park just west of it to the city for $35,000. The whole has a frontage of 500 feet on 57th st. and extends a depth of 150 feet from Princeton ave. west to the railroad tracks.

As a result of this mass meeting it was decided to send a committee of citizens to wait on the finance committee of the city council and induce them to buy the property. So on Friday, Feb. 9th, about thirty men and women of the district appeared at the finance committee rooms. But owing to the illness of Mr. Rickert, chairman of the committee, the meeting had been called off at noon, unknown to the citizens' committee. Alderman Lyle was present and read to the citizens' committee the resolutions he had presented to the council on Tuesday in which he had asked the council to buy the Sherwood Park tract of land and which he had intended to present to the finance committee on Friday.

Several aldermen again raised the question of the possibility of the board of education buying the playground. Miss Bednar, principal of Sherwood school, replied that she had had a conference with the superintendent of schools relative to that point and that he had informed her that the board of education had taken over only playgrounds adjacent to the schools and that it is the policy of the superintendent of schools to recommend property for additions to grounds only when it is adjacent to them and not separated from them by a public street as it is in the present instance. Moreover, the present emergency in housing shortage is so great that the superintendent is not recommending the purchase of any property whatsoever unless it is needed almost immediately for building purposes. There are 40,000 pupils in Chicago in half-day sessions. That means that 20,000 are without seats and must share their seats with another 20,000. There are 30,000 pupils in Chicago in portable buildings. The normal growth in school population in Chicago is 100 pupils per day or about three classrooms per day. This gives some idea of how acute the situation is and explains why the board of education can do nothing about the park.

It would seem that it is up to the city council to handle the situation and secure the playground. It is used by the whole neighborhood and not merely by the public school children. Moreover, the council obligated itself ten years ago when it leased the land without rental and put in all the improvements that it did. Private property owners can hardly be expected to allow the public to use their property without any return.

In the meantime the date for closing the park has been changed from Feb. 1st to Feb. 28th. The children in the neighborhood continue to use the grounds, trustingly confident that the mass meeting settled the whole thing. Will you, the public, fail them, or can they rely on you? Time will show.

The colored maid was asked if her new master was literary, and she answered, "He sure do be, he jes litters everything about the house."

"Why men leave home" is a corking good play, but really the answer is in many cases that they fear to be alone in the dark.

We must pay our auto licenses by today and have only a few days more to make out our income tax, and yet some would have you believe this is a free country.

There is a farmer along the Illinois Central who has been getting free coal all winter by simply putting up a sign for the brakemen to read, "Hurrah for Volstead."

The innocent wife asked: "George, the visitor we are to have is a distant relative, is he not?" "Gracious no, Maudie," said the wise husband. "Not any more, he's very rich now, and I want you to teach the baby to call him "unkie."

A businesslike man stepped into a butcher's shop. "A piece of beef for roasting!" he ordered, briskly. The meat, mostly bone, was thrown on the scales. "Look here!" remonstrated the man. "You're giving me a big piece of bone!" "Oh no, I ain't," said the butcher, blandly, "Ye're payin' for it!"

Mrs. Hicks, a Maine housewife, is so painfully neat that she makes life miserable for her family. One of her rules is that all members of the household must remove their shoes before entering the house. "Bill," she remonstrated one day with her husband, "I found a grease spot on one of the dining room chairs and I think it came off those pants you wear in the shop." A brief silence ensued, then a volcanic eruption. "Well, Mirandy, for the last fifteen years I have taken off my shoes every time I come into this house, but I'll be hanged if I'll go further."

His reverence, a nervous old gentleman, having lost his coachman, recently employed a local farm hand to drive him to a neighboring parish. "Have you broken your pledge yet, Pat?" he asked as they commenced the journey. "Divil a break, yer riverence," replied our friend. "I am as sober as a judge ever since I took it." Five minutes later his driving became noticeably erratic, and his reverence remonstrating with him said: "You'll want to be exceedingly careful how you handle that horse, he's a most spirited animal." "Begorra, yer riverence," answered Pat, struggling with the reins, "the two of them is that. They're the greatest pair of divils I ever dhrove."

Englewood Woman's Club

On Monday, February 19, the department of art, Mrs. Howard B. Chappel, chairman, will again present Mr. Walter Sargent, head of the department of art of the University of Chicago. Those who heard Mr. Sargent speak February 12, on "Line as a Means of Pictorial Expression," will not want to miss his talk this Monday on "Pattern of Light and Dark in Pictorial Composition," with illustrations. He can hold the interest of his listeners by the power of his keen understanding of the subject and his ability to express himself so clearly and simply that all who listen, learn. It is hoped many more members will avail themselves this week of this exceptional opportunity to hear this remarkable man.

In the afternoon the local aldermanic candidates will be given time to acquaint the club members with their political policies. Now is the important time to wisely make a deliberate decision regarding the candidates for the coming elections. A short business session will take place in the afternoon also.

Citizenship

Under the direction of the department of sociology, Mrs. Frederick White, chairman of the class in "Citizenship," will meet in the club rooms Monday, February 19, at 9:45 a. m. The meeting last week was most successful and instructive and this week promises to be even more so. Mrs. J. Paul Goode will again be the leader.

Tour

On February 23, the department of art will have its annual view day and luncheon at the Art Institute at 10:30 a. m. Mr. Gerald Frank will conduct the tour. Luncheon will follow at 12:30 o'clock. The speakers will be Mr. Harshe, director of the Art Institute; our president, Mrs. Steffings; Mrs. Grower, vice president of the Municipal Art League, Mr. Ingerly, president of the Chicago Society of Artists, and Miss Helen Parker of the Art Institute, who will tell about the proposed children's room. Music will be by Mrs. Gertrude Henry and Edna Baxter Brunner, violinist. It is hoped that many will attend.

Monday evening, February 19, Mrs. Gustav A. Jaeschke will sing a group of songs. Mrs. Jaeschke is called the "baritone lady," her voice being of that quality of tone. The accompanist will be Miss Eberhart.

Comrades A. E. F. Might Know Him

After four years and two months the watch worn by Robert L. Williams of Lincoln, Neb., Co. G, 355th Infantry, killed on the morning of Sept. 5th, 1918, while in action in the St. Mihiel sector, has been returned by the war department to his father. The crystal of the watch was broken and the back had been plowed by a bullet or shell fragment and could not be opened, and the hands had stopped at seven minutes past two. Robert was one of the nine nephews of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Williams of 334 W. 61st st., who were over there, and they would like to hear from any one of the boys of that company or who knew Robert, as they, nor the father, have been able to know the particulars.

I met a man over in the park one day last summer who noticing all of the automobiles speeding by remarked, "I hate to hear the toot of an automobile," and I asked why. "Well, a man ran off with my wife in an auto once," he said. "And I suppose it awakens unpleasant memories?" I said sympathetically. "Yes, I am always afraid he might bring her back to me."

Better Than the Editorial

Mr. G. E. Sullivan,
Editor Englewood Times.

Dear Sir: I feel that I must express my appreciation of the articles that appear in this week's issue of "our" valued paper, namely, "Not Our Boys and Girls, but Others", and "Don't Blame the School Teachers", which, since I am well acquainted with your "style," also your views on the subject of the proper up-bringing of youth, I attribute to your facile pen.

As the mother of three children, I am vitally interested in all children. I realize that it is impossible to rear children by the exact methods employed a generation or two past. I don't know as any of us would be pleased with the result, if it were tried, since the times and the people have changed.

"The old order changeth, giving place to new," may be true of a number of things, politically and economically, much for the betterment of society, but in regard to new ideals of mortality and religion, I doubt it.

We live in such a whirlwind nowadays, the mad struggle for a living, for a place in our little "world," the advancement of our personal affairs and of our children, the anxious seeking for happiness, that we forget the greatest good.

There is one thing greater than anything else in this old world except love, and sometimes I almost believe it is even greater than that. It is DUTY.

How many times has hard duty saved a soul when there was none to love or when love had gone from the heart! When mothers remember their duty, which may not always be in line with the inclination of their hearts toward their children, then we shall have less of such terrible scandals as we have had in the past weeks.

When fathers and mothers realize it is their duty to establish the family altar in their homes and not only to worship God with their children, but to follow in action, word and thought His example, then we shall have less immorality, drunkenness and dishonesty.

It is the duty of parents to preserve the unity of the home by using every home function, no matter how slight or humble, to cement that union. In many homes the entire family seldom meet at meals. In the morning the hard working father is the first to rise and breakfast, indeed it is the boast of many wives that they never are "obliged to get John's breakfast, that he always gets it himself." And father goes out to battle for a living, uncheered by the companionship of the woman who promised to cheer and to uphold him.

The children drift in to breakfast as their tasks demand, and rush off to school or office without, seemingly, a care for the home, each member of the family bolting his food and getting out to catch his car.

In the evening it is much the same. Every one has his own plans for the evening: cards, movies, dance, the theatre or calls. Every one is absorbed in his own pleasure. In many so-called homes the thought of the entire family spending, voluntarily, one evening together and without the presence of an outsider would be appalling. It simply couldn't be done; they would be bored to distraction. And why? Because, while they love each other, there are so few things they have in common.

Parents should foster the family union more assiduously than the union of any lodge, club or church in their community. From their earliest childhood children should be taught to be present at the family meals. If father has his breakfast at seven o'clock let every member of the family be ready to sit down with him. Let him see a circle of rosy, smiling faces around him, and he will be fortified and cheered with the thought that here, as she can get her work out of the way early and gain many leisure moments for rest and recreation. The children will find the lessons that seemed so difficult last night under the lamp, are now so easy to understand in the clear morning light, when the mind has been refreshed with sleep. The bug-bear hour of piano practice can be disposed of in those fresh morning hours, and little daughters can learn practical housework under in his own home, is the reason why he should "make good" in his work, his play, his moral and spiritual life.

Mother will be glad to have the family down to breakfast together, the best of all teachers, mother, while little brother can do his chores of carrying out ashes, sweeping walks, etc., leaving the precious after school hours for the game of ball or a skate in the park.

The dinner, with leisure to enjoy it, the friendly exchange of the day's experiences, the laughter, the fun, and yes, the tears and occasional squabble! The long evening 'round the lamp, father with his paper and pipe, the children with their books and games, the tinkering of the boys, the millinery and embroidering of the girls, the song around the piano, the simple evening devotions when every head is bowed while father's voice leads the others in the prayers.

Ah, it is in such homes that we can build our hopes of a nation, in such homes are taught the dependence and reverence due God and parents, the duty to neighbor and country. Are there any more such homes where the members spend at least one-third of their free time together? I wonder!

In so many homes there is no money for the real, worth-while things that make good character. If there is a music machine the records the young people play are usually the latest "jazz" or the frothiest popular melody. I have no quarrel with the young ones' taste for music, but the mother should insist on their hearing good music at times. She should provide records of the tuneful, classic compositions and play them occasionally, and she should insist that her daughters learn to play these on their piano, besides some of the standard ballads that will never grow old. She should also insist on their going to hear good orchestra music. No matter how much they protest, they will soon grow to like it, and in their riper, wiser years, bless that dear mother's wisdom. The mother, then, can foster that spirit of family union as no other can. It is a hard task, but a loving, joyous one. Some day she will realize that her work is greater than that of the greatest artist whose canvasses have won him worldly fame, that her achievement of character building in her children is finer and more beautiful than the noblest work of architecture wrought in stone.

Well, Mr. Sullivan, I assure you I don't expect you to publish the smallest bit of this long letter. The fact is, I am so "full" of this subject that, knowing I had a sympathetic (and helpless) reader, I just boiled over. Please pardon my verbosity and remember there are many like you, "old fashioned" men and women, who are glad to know we have an editor in Englewood who is not slow to make known his opinions on this, the greatest question of our day, viz., the morals and the upbringing of our children.

More power to you!
Cordially yours,
HALLIE R. LAURITSEN.
